Last Day of the First Provincial Fair

THE LIVE-STOCK JUDGES FINISH THEIR WORK

Crimson General Wins the Premier's Gold Medal and Carries of the Sweepstakes. Mr. C. F. Cameron's Jersey Bull Wins the Dairy Breed Championship. Mr. Jas. Tough Hereford Championship

The judges in the live stock sections finished their work yesterday and handed in the results to the directors. Mr. McGill's Crimson General won the sweepstakes and the gold medal donated by Premier Rutherford for the best pure bred bull of any age or breed, and the grand championship silver medal for the best pure bred bull, beef breed awarded by the A.C.B. Association.

Mr. W. F. Cameron won the grand championship and silver medal for the best pure bred bull, Dairy breed given by the A.C.B. Association.

Mr. Jas. Tough of Edmonton, with his fine herd of Herefords carried off a great many prizes and won the twenty-five dollars awarded for the best Hereford bull of any age bred in Manitoba or N.W.T.

One of the finest and most interesting features that occupied the attention of those interested in the live stock industry was the stock judging contests by the farmers' sons. The young men entered eagerly and intelligently into the contest, which was particularly difficult and fair because the cattle were chosen from Mr. Geo. Kinnon's herd which had arrived too late for entry, so the contestants could not fall back upon any choice the judges had previously made. The individuals to be judged consisted of five fine young heifers of different ages, and the judging required considerable skill in the study of types. There were fifteen entries. Half an hour was allowed to do the judging. Sixty per cent was allowed for the choice and forty per cent for reasons why the candidate chose as he did. As the decision required the examination of the papers the result was not known in time for publication.

After the young men had finished the judges Mr. C. M. McCrae and H. A. picked out the first, second and third prize animals. Then Mr. Craig, who is a recent graduate of the Ontario Agricultural college and a member of the stock judging team that won the International Trophy at the Union Stock Yards, Chicago, last year, to give a demonstration why the judges chose as they did and to answer any questions asked. Mr. Craig pointed the excellent points in the individual cattle and remarked upon their smoothness and massiveness as important points.

At the conclusion of the judging Mr.

McCrae said he had judged stock in seven provinces in the Dominion and was happy to say the farmers of Alberta were breeding along the right lines, and would some day raise the province to one of the greatest live stock centres in the whole Dominion. He considered it an honor to have the privilege of judging at the first provincial fair of Alberta.

Mr. Geo. Kinnon was heartily commended for lending his herd to the critical consideration of the young men, and was given three cheers.

Another contest was held in judging the pigs. A prize was awarded for the best judge of bacon hogs. Twenty minutes was given to judge the three best in a pen of five. Then Mr. Craig gave a talk showing the strong and weak points of each animal. The result will be announced today.

The results of the judging in the classes of horses, and cattle not previously reported are given below.

FAVORITES TOOK THE MONEY AT THE TRACK YESTERDAY

Silvertip the Only Choice of Talent That Failed to Finish First in the Afternoon Races

Yesterday was a day of favorites at the track, every favorite winning except Silver Tip, who carried off two heats and then went bad, losing to Enid H. and getting flagged out of second money in the last heat.

Zaza won the three quarter in a hand gallop, Etta V. took the three straight heats in the 2.20, Young Pepper took the three eighths in two heats, and in the mile and a quarter Figardon had the balance of the bunch beaten a Salt Lake block.

In the 2.45 trot or pace Silver Tip was selling even against the field for the race and 2 to 3 for the first and second heat. He took both of these without any trouble in 2.26.5 and 2.25. The third one went to Billy R. in the slow time of 2.33, every horse in the race breaking badly, and Silver Tip finishing a poor third, while "Big Nick" has something to explain as to why Enid H. was not flagged, as she was away beyond the dead line at the finish. Also what was Dr. Bell doing with Billy R. in the third, why did he drive Enid H. in the fourth, fifth and sixth, and what did Dr. Bell have to do with the race anyway, and why was he ordered up on any horse? It was probably all right, but it looked bad.

Enid H. won the fourth and fifth heat, Silver Tip getting so far behind in the fifth that the flag cut him out of second money, which went to Billy R.

In the three quarter dash Zaza was favorite, with Hutch Miller, St. Helen, Time Table and Strikelight in the field. It was too easy for Zaza to make the game exciting. The boys on Hutch Miller and St. Helen tried to pocket Zaza, and it looked for the fraction of a second as though the little brown mare was going to be crowded into the rail, but Ivy Powell is a rider and he brought his mare out and around the bunch and under the wire without exciting either her or himself.

The 2.20 trot was too one-sided to be exciting. Etta V. won three straight heats with Lottie H. second and Miss Elizabeth third. The best time was 2.24.1-2. In the three eighths it was Young Pepper all the way and nobody else anywhere.

The mile and a quarter dash was the race of the day. The entries were Whistling Rufus, Fink March, Rosario, Demas and Figardon.

McLaughlin's Figardon horse was a long way the favorite, so much so in fact that no one appeared ready to take the field, and that this hypothesis was correct was proven by the result. Figardon was ridden by McLaughlin, junior, and if ever a boy made all the necessary arrangements to lose a race the McLaughlin boy did yesterday. When the others got off he was going a cake walk faced the other way and the bunch was at least 10 lengths gone before Figardson even got headed the right direction. For half a mile Figardson was chasing after the bunch like the tail to a comet. At the three quarter he was fighting it with Rose-rie for the lead and at the mile he had a little the best of it, calling out a burst of speed in the stretch that pretty nearly left daylight between the two. Figardson just simply outran the whole bunch in spite of his jockey.

To-day is the day of the big thing at the track, the free-for-all. It is expected that Chestnut will pull the track record down at least eight or nine seconds, and take the extra $500. There is only one horse, Dacy, which is expected to force Chestnut for any part of the race, and as Dacy can get under 13 without any difficulty it will undoubtedly be interesting. Chestnut is considered the fastest thing on four feet that ever came into Edmonton, and this afternoon's race will be the greatest harness event ever seen in Alberta.

The following are the entries for this afternoon, the last day of the fair:

CIRCUS WRECKED.

Saskatoon Phoenix: Wild animals and circus paraphernalia filling three cars were ditched five miles north of the city early this morning, and attendants of the twenty-three car train of Norris & Rowe's gigantic shows, en route to exhibit in Prince Albert today, were put to their wits end to corral the terrified and enraged animals about to regain their liberty. The trick African lioness' cage was bent and twisted, while "Victoria" made the night hideous with her savage yells. Nerve men by means of a shifting den, got the terrified and angered beast into another cage.

Flopping about on the prairie was a sea lion that was easily herded into a suitable enclosure.

The office car of H. S. Howe, the general manager, and performing apparatus, were splintered and scattered into a mixed medley of tickets, records and broken furniture, as the result of rail spread.

OBSERVED THE HOLIDAY

Calgary, July 4.—This afternoon was the first of the midweek holidays enacted by the city council for the months of July and August. The day was well observed and all retail stores were closed.

Koreans Disturbed

Seoul, Korea, July 4.—Although denied by members of the Japanese legation, Koreans openly assert that their Emperor is now being held a prisoner in the royal palace here, and will never again be permitted to go abroad. The story comes from a high source, but for obvious reasons it is not possible of absolute confirmation at present. It arises from an objection by the Korean emperor and advisors to the assumption of authority by the Japanese headed by Marquis Ito, to the extent of nullification of Korean Emperor.

FOSTER'S FORECAST.

Washington, D.C., July 4.—Last bulletin gave forecasts of disturbance to cross continent June 27 to July 1, warm wave June 26 to 30, cool wave June 29 to July 3. Next disturbance will reach Pacific coast about July 2, cross west of Rockies by close of 3, great central valleys 4 to 6, eastern states 7. Warm wave will cross west of Rockies about 2, great central valleys 4, eastern states 6. Cool wave will cross west of Rockies about 5, great central valleys 7, eastern states 9.

This disturbance will bring one of the two very high temperature waves of the month and decidedly the hottest weather of the first half of July will occur while the warm wave is passing. All weather features accompanying that disturbance will be of greater intensity than usual. Preceding the storm centre will come a great rise in temperature and following it a great fall; weather extremes will continue from about 4 to 11.

During that week the rainfall will not be general, but very heavy in a few small sections, while drought conditions will be more threatening in other sections of the great central valleys, particularly that great grain growing country of which St. Louis is a central point. Alarming reports will be heard about the corn crop.

Again I advise farmers to hold for 60-cent corn, Chicago markets, but I warn option dealers against the immense power of the millionaire speculators.

July temperatures will average not far from normal, but cooler in the southwest than in the northeast. The drought will also extend into the southeastern states and into Florida.

In a general way July will bring two great hot periods centering around 4 and 22, and two unusually cool periods covering about a week each and centering near 12 and 30. The most severe storms and other weather extremes will occur the weeks centering about 1 and 23. Unusually severe weather is expected about and immediately following June 30.

During July Venus will be a beautiful silvery bright adornment in the western evening sky. Close to it, but a little nearer the sun will shine the seldom seen Mercury. A very clear sky about July 2 to 23 might enable you to see that fleet-footed planet.

LOST

On the fair grounds, Wednesday, July 4th, one small roll of bills containing about $60. For the return of which I will pay $10. —A bus came to grief on the McDevall street hill yesterday by breaking a wheel. No one was injured.

—The gamblers at the fair opened up again yesterday but a visit from Sgt. Tidbury put them out of business again.

—The members of the Masonic fraternity in the city will attend service at Fort Saskatchewan on Sunday morning. An excursion will be run on the C.N.R., the train leaving First street depot at 10 a.m.

—Many residents of the city who were formerly citizens of the United States celebrated the fourth by fireworks displays and explosions of fire-crackers and bombs last evening. There was no organized celebration and the demonstrations were of a private nature.

—Louis Rioux, the desperado who raised such a fuss on the Imperial Limited last week near Schreiber, and who was captured by Mr. J. J. McHugh of Calgary, was sentenced to serve three years in Kingston penitentiary for throwing stones through the car windows and injuring one of the passengers.

—Okotoks Review: Sgt. Thomas returned from Snake Valley on Saturday, having accompanied Dr. Crawford, corner, and Dr. Learmouth, who went out to hold an inquest on a boy nineteen years of age, named Ole Hicks, son of Mr. Hicks, postmaster of Hicksburg. This boy left his home on the 18th of May, riding for the purpose of hunting cattle and evidently lost his way, and although parties went out in search of him, he was not found until the 17th of June his body being found by one of the neighbors. Sergeant Thomas was at once notified, and an inquest was held by Dr. Crawford, of Calgary, Dr. Learmouth, of High River, holding the post mortem. The jury brought in a verdict that death was caused from exhaustion brought on by exposure.

—The Topic, Petrolia, Ont., says: Mr. Albert von Hammerstein leaves today for Alberta to continue the drilling operations which were commenced last year. Messrs. Kersey and Cameron are already on the ground, drilling the first well. A new cable rig has just been shipped from the Oil Well Supply Company, and Mr. von Hammerstein will drill the second well some ten miles from the first location. Mr. Jno. Blackwell and brother go with Mr. von Hammerstein to work on the rig. The location of the rig at present is about two hundred and fifty miles north of Edmonton; the distance being covered on horse and foot. Indications point to a great field being opened up in that district.

—It is to be regretted that Mr. Geo. Kimmon's herd of nine Shorthorns did not reach here in time for entry. Mr. Kimmon's herd contains some very fine individuals and belong to famous strains. There is "Situation Hero VII," the prize bull of the Hon. Thos. Greenway, who was second in his class at the Pan-American and stood next to "Lord Banff," who was sold afterwards for $5,000. Jenny Lind comes from the famous herd of the Hon. John Dryden, of Brooklin, Ontario, and from the same tribe as Lady Eden that won the junior championship at Chicago last fall, and sold for $1,500. Beside there is "Golden Flower" bred by Geo. Groff, of Alma, Ontario, which has never yet been beaten as a cow in a western show ring. A fine heifer, bred on Mr. Kimmon's farm is Golden Jewel, of the world-famous Brampton Hero strain. This heifer was the champion at the Regina fat stock show this spring. Mr. Kimmon's train was held up twelve hours at Moosejaw, twelve at Calgary, and eighteen at Medicine Hat. It is a pity the cattle were too late, as there might be a difference in the list of prize winners.

AT THE GOVERNMENT TENT

Miss Charlton continued her talks and demonstrations in cooking yesterday to a larger number of interested ladies than on the previous day. Many of the ladies took down notes of the various recipes and showed considerable desire to learn something about scientific cooking. The work was along the line of desserts and bread making. Miss Charlton emphasized the importance of definite measurement of all the ingredients used in all cooking preparations and advised the use of graduated dishes which could be easily obtained. Among the many practical hints Miss Charlton gave was that relating to cooking eggs and custards. Eggs should never be cooked in boiling water. The water should be raised to the boiling point, then when it has cooled to 180 degrees the eggs should be placed in the water, which should be kept at that temperature until the eggs are cooked six minutes for soft boiled, to 25 or 30 minutes for hard boiled. The same applies to cooking custards. If these were cooked at too high a temperature they become "rubbery" and "stringy." Beating the whites of eggs should be done on a flat surface and just long enough before using. The aim is to get air particles among globules of albumen. The heating should not be continued too long, as this drives out the air particles which could not be restored.

In kneading bread care should be taken to thoroughly distribute the air bubbles in the dough and thus ensure a uniform, flaky loaf.

Today Miss Charlton leaves for Innisfail to continue her interesting and helpful lectures.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mr. J. K. McLean, of the Indian Department, is in the city.

Mr. J. Reilly of Calgary is in the city taking in the fair.

Frank A. Walker, M.P.P., of Fort Saskatchewan, is a visitor at the fair.

Mr. J. P. Marcellus, M.P.P. for Pincher Creek, is in the city attending the fair.

W. Grant, of the Bulletin staff, left yesterday for Toronto, called away by the illness of Mrs. Grant.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryant, of Red Deer, spent a few days with Miss Bryant, Alberta College.

Hon. Lieut.-Gov. Bulyea was a caller at the Bulletin tent at the exhibition grounds yesterday.

W. A. Fraser, wife and child, of Enderby, B.C., are spending a few days with Mrs. Fraser's parents Mr. and Mrs. Dr. Wade.

Miss E. L. Fleming, of Penhold, Miss Woods of Cranbrook, and Miss Marie, of Gleichen, left for their homes for the summer yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Clark, of Lacombe, are spending a few days with their son, Lester Clark of Alberta College.

Mr. McCaig, vice-principal of the normal school, is in the city. He is chairman of the central committee of examiners reading teachers papers next week.

Mrs. Bryce J. Saunders, and family leave today for their summer cottage at Banff, where they will remain until September. Mr. Saunders accompanies them, but will return to Edmonton in a day or two.

AUTHORITIES FAVOR THE MOVEMENT

The Alberta Star, Cardston, corrects a statement published in several southern papers to the effect that the church authorities of Cardston intended to prevent the formation of a battalion of mounted infantry at that place. The Star quotes a paragraph of the article which it says appeared originally in the Macleod Advance and continues:

"The Star is in a position to know a little bit about this matter. What we know is this: that Lieutenant Percy Shaw issued an advertisement calling for a meeting of those intending to join the squadron. It was also stated in that advertisement that Major D. J. Campbell of Macleod, would be present to preside at the meeting. The meeting day arrived and the boys gathered, but Major Campbell did not put in an appearance and consequently there was no meeting held—many of the boys feeling badly disappointed at the non-appearance of the superior officer. This then is the cause for the failure of the Cardston battalion to be present at the muster at Macleod and so far as we know and so far as we have been able to learn by inquiry, there is no other reason whatever. "Bishop Hammer of the Cardston ward, was interviewed by the Star and flatly contradicted the Advance report. He stoutly maintained that he was heartily in favor of the movement, that he had encouraged it in public and private and that the first intimation he had that the Cardston Squadron would not be present, was from the Macleod Advance. Moreover, the Bishop is not going to allow the matter to rest there. He is determined to ferret out the guilty person whoever he may be. Bishop Hammer is a man not to be trifled with in this manner—he is a strong-hearted, clear-headed Canadian and he does not propose that any paper shall place him in the position of the one disloyal to his country without hearing from him in unequivocal language.

"It sometimes happens that the President of the Stake is confounded with the Bishop of the Colony, and so that there may be no mistake as to the attitude of either, the Star interviewed Mr. Edward J. Wood on the matter. Mr. Wood is President of the Alberta Stake. He said that he was a staunch supporter of the movement, that he had looked forward to the time when the boys would go to camp and learn those things which are calculated to make them defenders of their country against the encroachments of a foreign foe. Like the Bishop he was greatly surprised that such an erroneous view had appeared in the press. He wished it understood that so far as his conference were concerned, the Church and the Latter-Day Saints in general, were of one mind in endorsing the volunteer movement and having their young men join heartily in the same. This will suffice to portray the position taken by the Ecclesiastical authorities of the church at Cardston."

TO INSPECT CANADIAN ABATTOIRS

The Federal Department of Agriculture has sent out Dr. Rutherford to gather information regarding the canned meat industry in Canada. His mission will probably be that of an investigator of the materials used and the conditions under which the work is carried on and was probably suggested by the revelations in connection with the packing houses across the line.

This is as it should be. The publication of the methods of the Chicago packers, may have created, either at home or abroad, some suspicion, deserved or undeserved, of the conditions and methods of Canadian packing houses. The customers of the Canadian canners at home and abroad are entitled to know whether or not the Canadian packers have in any degree followed the disreputable example of their contemporaries in the United States. If they have done so a rigid system of inspection should at once be established to effectually terminate the use of improper materials or the improper treatment of food products. Assuming that the Canadian canners have been free from such practices they should welcome an investigation which will re-establish them in the confidence of their patrons at home and abroad. Nor should they find cause for alarm or objection in a system of inspection which would not only guarantee the quality of their products to the consumer but would protect the honest packer from being undersold by the dishonest packer who might cheapen his cost of production or increase the output of his plant by the use of unfit materials or the negligent treatment of products during the process of preparation.

The inquiry is the more important in view of the opportunity now given the Canadian packers to entrench themselves in the British markets. The Chicago revelations have put the Chicago products under a ban in Great Britain which will effectually exclude them from that market, provided the British consumer can secure at reasonable price an article of guaranteed quality and assured cleanliness. If the conditions and methods in the Canadian packing houses have been what they should have been, the Canadian packer has nothing to fear from an investigation which can but confirm the claims which have been made for the excellence of his products. Nor should he have more cause for offense in the establishment of a system of inspection which would preserve his business reputation in the markets of the world.

CURRENT COMMENT

Ottawa Free Press—An Edmonton Alderman declares that the newspapers of that city are a curse to Edmonton. At this instance we had formed the opinion that Edmonton is largely the progressive city it is today by reason of the fact that it has had the continued support of two of the brightest daily newspapers published in the west. It is more than twenty-five years ago since Frank Oliver, now Minister of the Interior packed a small hand press and a few fonts of type 800 miles across the prairies from Winnipeg to Edmonton and there established the first newspaper of the future capital of Alberta—a four page 16 inch leaflet, but a newspaper in every sense of the word. Both the newspaper and its publisher have flourished and deservedly so. We are rather inclined to the opinion that instead of the newspapers being at fault, the explanation lies in Edmonton possessing one or more jaundiced aldermen, which, unfortunately, is an affliction from which most cities at some time or another suffer.

New Towns Along C. N. R.

(Special Correspondence of the Toronto Globe.)

Edmonton, June 30.—Now that the Canadian Northern Railway has constructed its main line to Edmonton and is running a daily service of trains everyone wonders why it was not done long before. How did we ever get the impression that the fertile area, or even the most fertile area, of the west, was a strip running a few scores of miles north of the boundary? The backers of the Canadian Northern Railway deserve the rich recompense they will assuredly find in opening up this immense new region in the upper Saskatchewan valley. It is a misnomer, in part, perhaps, at the moment to call it the "short line between Edmonton and Winnipeg," though it has the advantage of some hundreds of miles over the old C. P. R. route by way of Calgary. The exact distance along the C. N. R. is 827 miles, and that over the C. P. R. by way of Calgary 1,027 miles; but the C. N. R. labors yet under the disability of newness, and the C. P. R. still has the advantage of time by an hour or two. The present importance of the Canadian Northern is much more on account of the region it traverses than because of the shorter route to Edmonton it will ultimately offer. The junction of the C. P. R. Prince Albert branch with the C. N. R. is at Warman, fourteen miles above Saskatoon, as I have before mentioned. There is one train a day each way over both lines, and making connection at the junction usually entails spending a night or a good part of a day at Warman.

From Saskatoon one is able to avoid this delay by driving across the prairie to and from Warman. The train going west is due at Warman at 9 o'clock, and the early morning drive across to catch it is a delightful experience. How brisk is this traffic already may be judged from the fact that there were over twenty passengers, filling seven conveyances, on this particular morning. The drive is alongside the railway track the whole distance and one is seldom out of sight of neat farm houses and cultivated lands, for this upper portion of the Prince Albert line has been fairly well settled for some time.

The prairie flowers are coming in now in great profusion, and the plains are alive with bright color, the wild strawberry bloom, the sweet peas and the violets predominating here. The gophers seem almost as numerous as flowers in some parts, and especially does it seem so on this morning's drive. All along the roadside they may be seen often sitting up on the "edge" of the holes they have burrowed until we are close upon them. Then as a rule, down they dive. Not always do they trouble to slip out of sight. They have few enemies but man, and man is so scarce an article in these parts that the gopher may be pardoned if he has as yet failed to realize him as an enemy. The numerous gopher-holes would make a driver nervous were they found along an Ontario road, but the prairie horses shunt them and avoid them with astonishing skill. Were it not so in fact, driving or riding would be next to impossible in some parts. The badger hole is of course, much larger than the gopher hole and found fortunately much less frequently. The horse avoids it equally however, and it is seldom the occasion of an accident. As an Alberta poet puts it in a copy of the Edmonton Saturday News just to hand, and in line that have at least the merit of stating the facts correctly:

"My shoeless cayuse hoofs the ground
With soft and knowing touch, and mound
And badger holes do not enroll
This friend of man born of the soil."

We are looking at the herculean shoulder of our driver and wondering how long before he would strike something better than stage-driving in this country, where every man becomes so quickly his own master should be to do so. That he had not been here long was evident from his lack of any intimate acquaintance in the neighborhood, and it soon developed that he had been one of the original Canadian contingent to South Africa and had spent some years there, subsequently in the South African Constabulary. "Wasn't it rather a pity," asked one of the passengers, "to have spent so long a time in that country, seeing how little chance of advancement it offered to the average man?" "Oh, no," said our driver, "I have nothing against South Africa." And later on he confided to us privately that he had cleared up $75,000 in South Africa which he was now investing in lands and real estate in the west. Incidentally he had established a livery stable in Saskatoon which seemed to be a paying proposition and gave him plenty of exercise. Here was a man, evidently, who did not waste his time whether in South Africa or in Canada; and he certainly did not need our sympathy.

At last our $75,000 driver drew up at Warman. It had been a fine prairie road all the way, and we had made the journey comfortably in an hour and a half. Our train was an hour of paint; so swift the new-born life; over the town that is to have the honor of handing down to future generations the name of Mr. Cy. Warman. Warman may be said to be in process of making at the moment, and perhaps another verse from the poem of the Alberta singer quoted above, will give a more vivid impression of it than I can convey in simple prose—

"Thou hast some towns, O lusty land;
They smell of sawdust, naked stand
paint; so swift the new-born life;
Thy tumbling energy so rife."

The lines are forceful rather than musical, perhaps, but the author (Mr. R. Sakeld, I should mention) has expressed admirably the essential feature of all these new little towns that men are sprinkling over the prairie, sometimes preceding, more often swiftly following, the steel of the railway. "They smell of sawdust, naked stand of paint." It is the same story for hundreds of miles along the Canadian Northern main line. There is no time to paint because some other party is waiting for walls and a roof. There may be time for paint later on. The style of architecture is not elaborate as a rule. Speed is the essential point and the builders do not dawdle. Down at Saskatoon the other day Mr. Isabter, the postmaster, and ex-mayor of the town, walked up the street with me from the train. He had been a few miles down the line since the previous day doing duty as coroner.

"Hello," he said, looking at a building on which the workmen were putting the finishing touches—without, paint, here's a new house since I went away."

But at Warman they are swifter yet. There is a Menonite settlement close to the town, and a companion and myself, having exhausted Warman, walked over to the village. On our way we passed a lumber pile at which some workmen were beginning to get busy. Forty minutes later, as we returned, the walls and roof of a shack stood there on the primeval prairie. I should like to have been able to say that a drug store had been opened there but that probably took place during the afternoon. There are some casual instances of that "new-born life" and tumbling energy so rife, of which the poet sings.

One might have expected the two railways to have contrived a union station at this little new prairie town but it is not so; the Canadian Northern and the Canadian Pacific are a hundred yards apart. There is a fair hotel here, and a bigger one is building, and the town will derive a certain profit from the junction. A fourteen-mile spur line down to Saskatoon is a possibility of the future, and is said to have been promised; but railway promises are not to be seriously regarded.

As to the Menonites, the village was not an attractive spot. It is a branch only of a larger and older settlement lying ten miles farther west. The only man alive to speak English had a paralytic of the vocal chords, and rolled his eyes and grimaced horribly as he tried to talk. He and a chum, both of them young men, were mixing mortar to build a brick oven, and as they were up to their elbows in it, we introduced ourselves without shaking hands. Both were undersized, with unkempt hair and beard, and would easily have passed for two little wild men. My companion, who happened to be Mr. Alf. Wood, once of the Toronto Telegram and Toronto World respectively, kindly sought to give me a little prestige by introducing me as the representative of the Toronto Globe, but I regret to state they had never heard of the Globe, never even heard of Toronto, and could not be got to grasp the idea of a daily paper. They were better acquainted with Winnipeg, and told us they had moved over here, five years ago from Manitoba, of which province they were both natives. The village consists of a dozen families, with a thousand acres amongst them. There are a few clay huts, substantial enough in their way, half a dozen frame houses, and a large frame building, evidently used in common. As native Canadians the young men are not exactly an inspiration, and after making all allowances, the Anglo-Saxon settler seemed distinctly to have the advantage. One could not but feel that the village settlement system does not tend to promote racial assimilation which is absolutely necessary if the west is to be integrally one with the east. Happily it is proceeding more rapidly elsewhere, and most rapidly of all in the cities.

Winnipeg itself is a perfect melting pot of nationalities. I have before me as I write a photograph of a class in the Strathcona School, Winnipeg, containing twenty-two children, and, excluding representatives of four provinces of Canada, as many nationalities. There are in the group representatives of England, Ireland, Scotland, Iceland, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Holland, France, Bohemia, Galicia (Polish and Ruthenian), Roumania, Austria-Hungary, Cape Colony and the United States. The class is typical of the school of 604 pupils, two-thirds of whom are of foreign origin and were unable to speak English when they entered it, and the school is largely typical of what is going on in all other schools in the outer portions of the city where foreigners predominate. These children quickly become imbued with the Canadian spirit, and develop into Canadian citizens, in every striking contrast with the settlement

Our Wheat Fields

Saskatchewan Minister of Agriculture on Capabilities of the West.

At the Canadian Seed Grower's convention in Ottawa Hon. Mr. Motherwell gave an interesting paper on wheat growing in the Canadian west. He said that wheat production in Western Canada twenty-five years ago was confined practically to a few pioneer settlements in the Red River Valley of Manitoba. But just as successful wheat as grown to the south of us extended westward from the eastern to the middle states and from thence from the Dakotas and Minnesota during the last half century so in western Canada during the last quarter century has a similar expansion westward and northward been steadily growing, going on until the far off Peace River district has come to be recognized within the area of successful agriculture in this respect. In the light of these experiences, it is a bold man indeed who will today presume to prescribe the limit, either in extent of wheat area or exportable surplus of our great western empire.

Statisticians of more or less accuracy and sources of information have estimated our capacity to grow wheat all the way from two hundred and twenty-five million to one billion bushels per annum. While the latter figure is doubtless extravagant, moderate and well informed men are of the opinion that an average of these two figures is quite within the range of possibility during the next twenty-five years. And when one considers the invariably moderating effect that settlement always seems to have on temperature together with the fact that earlier varieties of wheat are continually being evolved by our painstaking experimenters, the mind fails to grasp the possibilities of western Canada as the future granary of the empire.

Mr. Motherwell went on to say that to attain success in wheat cultivation on the prairie it is necessary to give intelligent study to soil cultivation and weeds. Soil cultivation is the most important. Summer fallowing has become the very foundation upon which successful wheat culture is based and profitably carried on. The dissenter from this is chiefly in localities where the rain fall is more abundant. Conservation of soil moisture is the primary object of bare fallowing. There are also the destruction of noxious weeds and the putting of large areas of land in good condition of tillage. Then come the too frequently neglected question of good seed. This was a mistaken practice which could eventually have but one result, the deterioration in quality and in quantity of staple field product wheat. Then there is the absence of noxious weeds. Weeds in the west compelled them to be good farmers or sooner or later to quit.

As regards wheat red life continues to stand out head and shoulders above all competitors. Mr. Motherwell touched on the shocking, stacking and other varieties of farm work, showing the future of Canada was largely wrapped up in the success of the western wheat fields.

Hon. Sydney Fisher drew attention to the fact that a system of regulation had been adopted and spoke in favor of seed exhibitions, at seed fairs. Seed experimental tests at schools did much in teaching the children to take an interest in the work. He said there were great possibilities for the improvement of seed in Canada and urged that the people be educated in these directions.

Prof. James Robertson, C. M. C., of MacDonald college, St. Anne, Que., was re-elected president of the association and L. H. Newman was elected secretary-treasurer.

Able papers were read by Prof. Harcourt, chemist of the Western Agricultural college, Guelph, on the relationship between soil conditions and crop improvements. Dr. C. E. Sanders, cereal experimentalist at the Dominion experimental farm, on "quality of wheat" and by Prof. F. T. Shutt, chemist, Dominion experimental farm, on "experiments in connection with the action of smut preventives on the vitality of seed and soil wheat problems."

Papers were also read by John Buchanan, lecturer in agronomy, Guelph, on "some effects in varieties of cereal crop arising from different conditions of growth"; G. T. Mac-

TROUBLE FOR CASTRO

Washington, July 4.—Shortly after General Cypriano Castro resumes the presidency of Venezuela tomorrow, he will find himself confronted by requests from the United States for the settlement of American claims against his Government.

For more than a year Castro has not been bothered by the United States. Meanwhile Judge W. J. Calhoun, visited Venezuela and investigated the American claims, and the State Department must have been busily engaged in reviewing the case and putting them in shape to be presented.

What appeared to be indifference on the part of the United States has been only caution, and the state department will take up its work where it was allowed to rest after the sending of a note to Castro, by Secretary of State Hay, which was practically an ultimatum.

A request will be made for arbitration of American claims, regardless of what action the Venezuelan courts may have taken or shall take in the future.

THE GREATEST OPPORTUNITY

The investing public of Edmonton have had placed before them for a considerable time is that of purchasing a block of one of the finest west-end properties ever placed on the market at extremely reasonable prices and on very easy terms.

Frontage on Jasper Ave.

NORTH JASPER PLACE

Frontage on Jasper Ave.

Is certainly one of the choicest suburban properties lying to the West of the City. Stands beautifully high, commanding an open view of the city and has the advantage of frontage on the recognised, business section, namely, Jasper Avenue. At no distant date this property will be in great demand as a Choice West End Residential Location and with a street car service will prove one of the greatest investments offered this season.

Get in on the Ground Floor

STOP AND CONSIDER

Get in on the Ground Floor

North Jasper place has been very carefully subdivided by the Dominion Land Surveyors into Blocks, each containing twenty full sized lots of 150 feet x 50 feet. The streets are 66 feet wide and the lanes 16 feet. With the property sub-divided in this manner there will be no trouble in the future about allowances for streets, etc. The same cannot be said of many of the sub-divisions. Our advice is to buy a block, half block or quarter Block of this property, and buy it NOW, as there is nothing like getting in on the ground floor.

REASONABLE PRICES

EASY TERMS

With the view to giving the small investor an equal opportunity to that generally offered to the man with greater means, we have decided to offer a limited number of quarter and half blocks at the wholesale price. This will be readily appreciated by all who have only a small amount available for investment. We have quoted the very lowest possible figures on this property and from present indications the whole sub-division will be sold within the next thirty days. Prices must be advanced next week.

NEW TOWNS ALONG THE C. N. R.

system, which encloses and isolates a community and thwarts the natural tendency to development and assimilation.

But to return to the Canadian Northern. Warman in its condition of raw prosperity and youth, is like a score of other towns that are growing up along the line, the very names of which are new to us in the east. Indeed, it is almost hopeless to keep pace with the making of new towns. Some older towns are, of course, getting the benefit also of the new road. The most notable of these is Battleford, so long remote from railway facilities, seventy-five miles across the country from Prince Albert, and courageously waiting its turn. That town has come now. The new town of North Battleford has been built up on the north side of the river, a mile from the old town, but with the new bridge that is soon to be built, the two towns will be made one. The settlers are coming in by thousands. In one week there were 1600 homesteads cut in the Battleford of the north. But I hope to visit Battleford shortly and give some of the more interesting features of its development. Fort Saskatchewan, too, is an old town, eighteen miles east of Edmonton, and established many years ago as the headquarters of a detachment of Northwest Mounted Police. The town is now taking on a small spurt and settlers are coming thickly into the neighborhood. It is, however, too near Edmonton to see any large development as a centre.

The most conspicuous of the newer towns are Vermilion, Lloydminster and Kamack. The last named is the town nearest the postoffice of Veggiehara, the larger settlement of Dookhobara. Lloydminster is the home of the Barr colony, and I shall refer to it again. It is a little older than the other places I have named. Vermilion is the newest, the largest, the most aggressive of them all. Perhaps even yet it is the least known, although it is now advertising itself loudly. "The Bull's eye of the Saskatchewan valley" is the title it has proudly assumed, and it was just six months old on the 1st of April last, yet it already boasts a newspaper—that indisputable evidence of population—a bank, three hotels, four real estate offices, a public school, a Methodist church, with Anglican and Presbyterian starting to build, three lumber yards, and all the numerous other appearances of a progressive industrial community. Here also the homesteaders are rushing and the land is being settled with marvellous rapidity. The town is situated on the Vermilion river, an affluent of the Saskatchewan, which it joins a few miles away. The Vermilion drains a piece of wonderfully fertile territory, variously adapted for stock raising or wheat growing. The crop statistics of the Canadian Northern Railway for last year show wheat yields as high as fifty bushels to the acre. As to cattle, they are never housed, save to milch cows, and feeding is necessary only from Christmas until the end of March.

The land is sometimes level plain, sometimes rolling upland, sometimes bush or small timber, but there is always enough of the latter for firewood and sufficient often for other purposes. This is true not only of the Vermilion district, but all along the line between Warman and Edmonton, so far as one may see from the car windows. The scenery is, therefore, not that of the monotonous though fertile prairie, but abounds with every curve of the line, and brings to light rivers and lakes and downs and bluffs of tall poplar, and stretches of bush and expanses of plain all in swift succession. Some settlers would prefer the prairie, because there is nothing to clear; others find in the presence of the wood an agreeable relief and compensation for the labor or expense of clearing. This portion of the country, however, is obviously better adapted to mixed farming, with herds of cattle or sheep, than to wheat growing though wheat will still no doubt be grown extensively.

Lashburn is another typical settlement in this district, lying about sixty miles west of Battleford. It is in the midst of a fine rolling country, with scattered bluffs along a way south towards the Battle River, in a beautiful open stretch of clean, rich-looking land. The town started only in October last, when a general store was opened in a 16x16 tent. To-day there is here a comfortable twenty-roomed hotel, to which the proprietor finds it necessary to build an addition. The crowds in the post office after their mail are a striking testimony to the rapidity with which settlement is progressing in the neighborhood. There is a good football team here, which the other day encountered another from the neighboring town of Lloydminster. The new town is the nearest railway point to the large settlement around Manitow, Lake south of the town, and the Provincial Government is said to intend erecting a traffic bridge across the Battle river for the convenience of settlers in that region.

The towns have quickly established good fellowship with each other. One hears of football and baseball matches in every direction. Dominion Day excursions are announced for central points and there is abundant evidence that the settlers are a live, active and energetic class of people. Purely social functions have their place, too, in the order of events. On the train on which I came into Edmonton was a party of a score or so of Vermilionites—the name is awkwardly suggested—bound for Veggieville, sixty miles west. The number is increased at intervening stations, and the party becomes a very gay and lively one. A ball at Veggieville, I hear, is the attraction. It is a three hours' journey and they will reach their destination about 10 o'clock. The C.N.R. train going east to Winnipeg will pick them up on the return journey soon after midnight and drop them off in the small hours of the morning at their several destinations. These people have gathered during the past year from all over eastern Canada and the western States, with a sprinkling from the British Isles. They already know each other and fraternize cheerfully and pleasantly together. The isolated existence is not for them, and they will have none of it. And a year ago, be it remembered, the railway alone broke the solitude of the prairie at these points. One word as to the railway itself. It is, of course, very new, and the roadbed is not yet solidly impacted. The train does not move swiftly, and even so it always like a ship at sea. But one gets used to such matters, and, in any case, they are only incidents in the youth of a railway. For the rest, the line is well equipped, has an excellent service of diners and sleepers, and keeps fair schedule time.

GRAND TRUNK FILES PLANS

Section 15, From Beaver Lake to Battle River, Recorded Yesterday.
Options Taken up for Yards in Edmonton

Plans were filed at the land registry office here yesterday for 77 miles of the Grand Trunk Pacific, from Beaver Lake to the Battle River, being the piece of road officially known as section 15.

The western end of the plans filed is at the road allowance on the west side of section 10-50-19, which is just south of Beaver Lake. The railroad here runs diagonally southeast and the first station shown is on the McCauley and Berry farms, the southwest quarter of one and the northeast quarter of 35. The road runs to the south of and within half a mile of Tofield post office. The second station is also partly on one of Mr. McCauley's quarter sections, the s.e. of 21, the remainder of the station ground being on P. O. Malin's farm, the s.w. of 22. From this point to where it crosses the river for over 60 miles the track is in an almost straight line southeasterly.

The railway will cross the Battle River at the northeast quarter of section 14, township 45, range 8, west fourth meridian.

According to the profiles there is some heavy grading at the Battle River Crossing, but after that there is mile after mile where it is only a matter of throwing up a dump in a flat country, and there is every indication that Mr. Morse was well within the limit when he told the Bulletin a month or so ago that the graders would be working into Edmonton this summer.

In connection with the plans just filed, Herbert Symington, solicitor for the company, is in the city and has been here since Saturday evening closing up options for the property that will be required by the company for yards and terminals in Edmonton. Two transfers have already been filed, one for the 120 acres of the McEachron farm, for which the consideration was $27,079, and the other for the Hugh McKay farm, the northwest quarter of 16-53-24, the consideration for which was $37,120. This comprises 280 acres of the 6,110 on which the company has options north of the city. The remainder of the property is in the hands of Messrs. Smith and Helliwell, of the Western Realty Co., McPherson and Belcher, for all of which the papers are in process of execution.

Toronto Sun: Representatives of the Canadian Pacific are still endeavoring to create a public opinion against giving President Hill of the Northern Pacific a free hand in carrying out his proposed railway projects in the Canadian West. The attempt that is being made is based on the statement that if Hill has his way he will divert the traffic of Manitoba and other western provinces to United States commercial centres. No such statement would be given a moment's consideration if made with a view to preventing communication between Chatham and Detroit, or Guelph and Buffalo. Neither will it have any weight when put forward with a view to restricting freedom of communication between the West and St. Paul and Chicago. Liberals who declared twenty-five years ago that Manitoba should not be checked in the matter of securing railway competition will scarcely reverse their attitude on this question today, while even progressive Conservative papers are now taking the ground that Hill should have a free hand. Those in control of the Canadian Pacific will do well to reserve the strength they are wanting in futile opposition for the purpose of meeting competition which is bound to come.

AT THE FAIR.

Surpassing previous efforts in this direction, the Revillon exhibit is easily first from a scenic as well as a mercantile point of view. No amount of advertising, no matter how judiciously spent can begin to compare with the efforts produced by the Renowned Revillon Train, a picture of which is shown in the whole length of the background, whilst in front of the exhibit there are six pictures which tell the story of the rise to eminence which this gigantic business has made, and the end is not yet for with the beginning of the coming week, we learn that the firm will begin to build a new extension to their present retail store, the new wing will be built over the land now used as a yard and will be carried up three stories in height. Like a loose leaf ledger the business and premises of the firm are continually growing, their business firm being of such a comprehensive character, that one can hardly ask for anything that they cannot provide.

Swimmers Were Seized With Cramps

Details of the Double Drowning Accident at Gull Lake

A Lacombe correspondent sends the following details of the drowning accident at Gull Lake on Monday, in which the Misses McDonald lost their lives: The unfortunate ladies were good swimmers and in company with the Misses Simpson, went out a considerable distance to take a plunge in deep water. One of the McDonald sisters dived from the boat, but was taken with cramps. Her sister went to her relief but she, too, was stricken and before help could reach them both were drowned. There were no men near at the time. The Misses Simpson did all in their power to render assistance, but without success. Dr. Simpson and Mr. A. C. Gourley arrived shortly after and raised one body with an oar. A. Belcher secured the other by diving. Mrs. McDonald is a widow and came to Lacombe from the old land only a short time. She has the sympathy of the entire neighbourhood in her bereavement.

The funeral took place yesterday from the Presbyterian church, Lacombe.

FURTHER DETAILS OF THE WRECK.

Salisbury, Eng., July 4.—When the wreck occurred there were not a dozen men on platform at the time. These included Night Inspector Spicer, who was there to signal and light trains passing Salisbury. Looking at his watch he saw the time was 1:57 when a great noise, the result of the impact, gave the first intimation that a tragedy had occurred. In a few minutes police and doctors from the infirmary, where the injured now are, were at the scene, as well as several post office employees, who watched the crossing over the bridge of the Plymouth special. All went well until the train reached Salisbury, although some of the passengers at various points remarked on the very high rate of speed.

A short distance from Salisbury begins a remarkable curve, which has sometimes been described as the most dangerous in the world, which certainly possesses elements of danger. Not only does the line enter and leave the station on a curve, but where it crosses Fisherton street, the line takes a slight rise in order to afford sufficient headway to the dropping roadway below. It was practically at this point that the engine jumped the rails, and brought about a disaster almost without precedent both with the percentage of lives lost and the damage to rolling stock and the annals of British railway accidents, and especially of boat expresses.

At the scene of the catastrophe there are five lines of railway. Two are main lines, two are devoted to local traffic, and the fifth is a siding. A milk train, laden with empty cans, was entering the station in the opposite direction to the express, whilst the only obstacle there was a solitary engine ready to furnish any service the milk train might require.

In the meantime, the express, which was due to run through with an empty line of rails on either side of her, came pounding along. The inspector at the station watched its course and was horrified to see it leave the rails on the right and plunge into the rear of the milk train. A crash like a roar of artillery awakened many inhabitants of Salisbury, a mile away. Within 20 seconds the whole train became a chaotic mass of wreckage, the ponderous engine had smashed the guard's van of the milk train to atoms, and killed a guard.

Instantly all the carriages rose from their fastenings. The engine hurled itself against the side of the strong iron parapet which bounds the bridge over the roadway. Fortunately it struck the parapet at almost end on, and was saved from carrying away the parapet and projecting the train into the street below. The street below was covered with glass and splinters. One passenger was hurled out of the window, 30 feet to the embankment, and either killed by the fall or the mass of wreckage that fell on him. The engine, boiler exploded, severely scalding the driver and fireman; the latter has since died. The express engine finally turned turtle, broken backed. Carriages were piled as if by giant hands, the stationary engine tilted towards the wreckage of one carriage on its tender, with engine and tender of the express locked into the stationary engine's. Directions to engine drivers over this portion of the line is not to exceed a speed of 30 miles an hour.

Baptist Convention Elects Officers

Winnipeg, July 5.—The following officials were elected by the Baptist convention of Manitoba and the North-West: President, Thomas Underwood, Calgary; first vice-president, Rev. J. B. McIntyre, Winnipeg; executive board, S. B. Blackhall, W. A. McIntyre, W. Findlay, G. F. Stephens, H. Hilton, R. Robertson, C. D. Stovel, all of Winnipeg; Dr. A. H. McDermid and N. Wolverson, Brandon; A. McDonald, Edmonton; Rev. T. F. Marshall, Prince Albert; H. G. Mielck, Regina; Rev. C. B. Freeman, Moose Jaw, J. C. Bowen, Dauphin; J. R. Coutts, Carman; F. C. Hopin, Hartney; Rev. C. S. B. Burley, Portage La Prairie; J. McCormick, Neepawa; W. Daniels, Red Deer.

The 4th in Calgary — ET ET ET
Calgary, July 4.—The Americans of Calgary celebrated today in royal fashion. There was an elaborate parade, the feature of which was an impersonation of John Bull carrying the Stars and Stripes, and Uncle Sam carrying the Union Jack. The John Bull part was taken by Dr. Stewart, while Uncle Sam was represented by Fred Becker. At the park addresses were delivered by Rev. Wm. Kirby, R. Bennett and Mr. Parsons, of Milwaukee. This was followed by sports. The Victorias, of Calgary, defeated the Okotoks at baseball by a score of thirteen runs to five. Calgary defeated High River by a score of eight goals to one at lacrosse. In the evening the Canadian fairs defeated the American fairs at baseball by 20 to 6. None but men weighing over 200 pounds were eligible. There was also fireworks and other demonstration features.

THE AMERICA SAFE.

BRAKEMAN INJURED.

Seikirk, July 4.—A shocking accident occurred today when Andrew Christenson, a brakeman on the Winnipeg-Seikirk railroad, had both his feet cut off by a car.

TO BE TRIED FOR MURDER.

Winnipeg, July 4.—Confined in jail for the past month awaiting trial for murder, three Galicians, Fred Pasternaka, Danyle Harmyle and Michael Eyduk, were this morning arraigned at the police court for a preliminary hearing on the charge of murder, on June 4th, of their fellow countrymen, Macko Solaki, who was done to death during a wedding festival at 707 Magnus avenue. They were all three sent up for trial.

WINNIPEG PLUMBERS OUT.

Winnipeg, July 4.—The trouble between the master plumbers and the journeymen which has been threatening for some time, came to a head this morning when the men quit work in all shops which refused to sign the agreement submitted by the Plumbers' union for more pay and shorter hours. Two hundred men are affected by the strike, which includes the majority of the journeymen in the city.

ANOTHER EMPEROR.

Berlin, July 4.—Crown Princess Cecelia, wife of the Crown Prince Frederick, heir to the German throne, gave birth today to a son at the Marble Palace, Potsdam. All Germany is making holiday over the happy event.

GYPSUM WORKS DAMAGED.

Winnipeg, July 4.—Just as a party of prospective investors were starting to look over the plant of the Manitoba Gypsum company at Gypsumville, on the head of Lake Manitoba, word came from Westbourne that the entire mill and workings had been destroyed by fire. Among the party was Edward Prior, of Postville, Iowa. He had travelled all the way from his home with a view of seeing the works. The packet boat which runs on the lake, this morning, brought down the news. The blaze occurred Monday and the efforts of the workmen to save the plant were of no use. The damage is estimated at $10,000.

CALGARY WON FROM STRATHCONA

The ball game yesterday morning between Calgary and Strathcona was a very ragged exhibition of the great international pastime. Calgary went bad for no less than seven errors and scored ten runs on eleven hits, while Strathcona piled up eleven errors against themselves but managed to score eight runs on four hits.

The high wind and the dust were partly accountable for the poor playing but making a fair allowance for this handicap the teams played a very poor ball.

In the second inning for Calgary got a two base hit, was advanced to third by Felders and beat out a fly by Watson, scoring the first for Calgary.

Strathcona scored again in the first of the fourth, Winchester making the second two base hit of the morning, which Donovan made good for a round up of bad errors.

Calgary scored one in the fourth and two in the fifth, and in the sixth the Strathcona people went all to pieces and Calgary piled up six runs on three hits.

In the eighth Strathcona scored one, Allen getting a walk and coming round on a two base hit by Wiley. In the ninth Strathcona hopes ran high for a few minutes, the Calgary team going bad for two errors and a past ball which cost three runs and brought their score to eight.

The score stood:
Calgary..... 10 1 2 6 0 0 x-10
Hits..... 0 1 0 3 2 3 0 2 x-11
Strathcona..... 3 0 0 1 0 0 0 1 1-5

Every steel-plate range kept the kitchen broiling-hot until we found out just how to use asbestos to keep the heat in a cooking range where it must cook the food instead of cooking the cook.

THIS range is a COOL range—lined with thick asbestos, so the heat stays inside the range, so the oven bakes quicker and bakes evenly. Food is better cooked quicker cooked and cooked for less fuel cost—and cooked with less bother.

The Plain Truth About Twenty-seven Automobiles

What about an Auto at such Prices as These?

HERE is a terse, plain, honest description of 27 automobiles. Any one is great big value for the price. Every one is a good make, in good running order --- most of them are actually in first-rate new condition.

Consider that a modern motor car --- and every one of these is a modern motor car --- is as easy to run as it is to drive a horse --- and actually safer than most horses --- and actually less expensive to keep, as well as being instantly ready for use when you want to use it.

Look over the List --- consider which car you might possibly be interested in if it is all we say it is. Check on the coupon the number of such cars as might interest you; write your name and address plainly on the coupon and mail it to us. We will send you pictures, full details and special terms. Every car in this list --- every car we sell --- we warrant in all respects fit to buy and as we represent it.

The Biggest Bargain of the Whole List is This No. 1

| No. 1—Rambler Touring Car, 1905 Model, 18 h.p., double opposed cylinders. Car seats five with comfort. Side entrance, tonneau (same as newest high-priced cars). Complete with acetylene gas generator and searchlights, side and tail lamps, horn, etc., etc. First-class condition. Same style sold last year for $1,750. Price to quick buyer.....   | No. 7—Russell 1905 Car, 12 h.p. Shaft drive and sliding gear transmission. A fine car. Used but little during one season.....  | No. 18—Rambler, 7 H.P. Runabout, with fine leather top. Suitable for physicians or for lady's use. Good car for $550.....  |
| No. 8—Rambler 1905 Touring Car, 18 h.p. Extra large tonneau. Fitted with searchlights, lamps, etc. In fine condition.....  | No. 9—Pope Hartford Light Touring Car 1905 Model, 10 H.P. Seats four. Has never been used. Absolutely beautiful car at any price and notable value at our price.....   | No. 19—Ford, 10 H.P. High class engine. Fitted with tonneau, or can be used as runabout. In good condition. A powerful car $560 for.....   |
| No. 2—Packard, 4-cylinder car, 1905 model, with plate glass windshield, cape car top, and everything complete, for a first-class high-grade touring car. Will seat five people comfortably. Fitted with Diamond tires in fine condition, as is indeed the whole car. Body beautifully finished in rich, dark green; price includes acetylene gas outfit and five high-grade lamps, side baskets and, in fact, everything that ought to go with a car as good as this. Absolutely as good a purchase as any automobile buyer can possibly consider. Really worth fully $500 more than our price, which is..... | No. 10—Stevens Duryea Runabout with folding front seat, full leather top. Good car for physician's use. Condition first-rate. ### A TWILER'S CONTROVERSY

Calgary Defeats Edmonton in a Game
Last Night Which Was Really
Real Live Ball at a Big League

Calgary and Edmonton played real live ball at the Second street grounds last night. In fact it was so real at times that the boys got right out and bet their money on the result just the same as though there was room for a doubt about it.

It was a pitcher's controversy from the flag.

The score should have been 1-0, but it wasn't. Howard, who pitched for Edmonton and proved his ability to play the best game on any diamond in the whole of the golden west, squandered in one fell moment all his chances to become a matinee idol, with the lady patrons of the game. Mr. Howard is a recent arrival from the state of Oregon, and it is whispered around that the judicious use of some immigration literature (at 3 cents per mile) was instrumental in encouraging him to come to Sunny Alberta, where a young man able to deliver the goods can get around and do something for himself. Mr. Howard looks like a desirable settler and his neighbors seem to like him, but a few breaks like the one last night and he will be deported. Mr. Bradley, another gentleman who by some coincidence arrived in the city just about in time for the Calgary game, played short. Mr. Bradley plays a nice gentlemanly game, and there is no doubt about his ability to stop most of the warm things that come his way. In fact it might be said that Mr. Bradley made good. Mr. Foose, of Wetaskiwin, officiated as backstop, with his usual grace and agility and seemed to work in perfect harmony with Mr. Howard on the slab. In fact, so perfect was the blending of voices when they started to kick to the umpire that one might have thought that they were old college chums. Mr. Dobson covered first, Mr. Deaton second and Mr. Berry third, for all of which positions the respective gentlemen are fully qualified. The outer gardens, however, were hardly as well protected. Mr. McGurl covering left field—or at least a piece of it—Harold Edward Grady performing in centre and Dr. Till had charge of the right. Altogether they made a very nice looking aggregation.

On the Calgary team Mr. Crist, late of the state of Iowa, stood on the slab and delivered benders that were both deceiving and effective. Mr. Ford, late of Victoria, caught, while Mr. Rochon and Mr. Donovan, who also performed last year with the Northwestern league, covered second and short. For show purposes the Calgary team would have been a nice subject for a photographic art study.

The Calgary gentlemen were first to the bat, but although Mr. Mayne negotiated and Mr. Rochon secured transportation and it looked for a few seconds like the commencement of another of those triumphal processions for the gentlemen from the cow camp; nobody circled owing to a neat double play by Messrs. Gochee and Berry.

In their own half the Edmonton gentlemen did much better. Mr. Deaton swiped it on the nose and purloined the second sack when Mr. Crist was inattentive. Mr. Berry popped out, swore a trifle and retired gracefully; Mr. Bradley fanned the atmosphere violently but ineffectively; Dr. Till connected and planted one far enough in the rear of the first baseman to allow Mr. Deaton to score, placing Edmonton for once in the position of leading in a baseball game. A moment later Dr. Till made a wild attempt to steal second, but he took the loop when he should have been on the belt line and his car was 30 minutes late. It has been noticed heretofore that Dr. Till is not the fastest base-runner this far north, and this is not the first time that his futile attempts to migrate to second have retired the side.

There was simply nothing doing in the second, third, fourth and fifth, except that Mr. Gochee negotiated a lonely hit in the fourth, but failed to circumnavigate.

It was in the sixth that the tragedy heretofore referred to as the Howard incident occurred. Mr. Crist was the first gentleman to bat and by some remarkable coincidence he hit the ball. It may have been this that unnerved Mr. Howard. Mr. Ford, probably on the theory that if Mr. Crist could hit it, many any one should be able to connect, made three violent swings in search of the leather-covered sphere —and then sat down. Mr. Mayne was more careful. He took the gentle, persuasive course, inveigling Mr. Howard into putting a nice easy one over to save the situation when it was three and two. This one Mr. Mayne landed on very nicely and placed between second and first. There was a quick run by Mr. Mayne, a few deft movements by Mr. Deaton and Mr. Dobson, and Mr. Miquelon, the umpire, handed down his decision that the gentleman from Calgary was safe and entitled to retain his position as proprietor of the first sack. The verdict was not concurred in by the multitude; in fact it may be safely stated that it was intensely unpopular, especially in view of the fact that it placed two Calgary gentlemen on the sacks with only one retired. However, as some of the fanatics from the southern city were heard to intimate, the inmates of the Edmonton fan house might have been a trifle prejudiced. Certainly there was no grounds for the statement made from the grand stand that Mr. Miquelon was in such a state of decay that he should be in the morgue. Nevertheless it was two on and only one down and Calgary hearts (admitting that Calgary folks have hearts) beat lightly. A moment later, however, when the nasty little Mr. Rochon with the dirty face, fanned, there was joy sublime in the Edmonton fan house. It looked as though Mr. Howard had the cow-punchers corralled, roped and branded. There was simply nothing to it. A bet on Edmonton looked better than a gold draft on New York. Then the tragedy occurred. Johnny Donovan, late of Seattle, came to bat. Johnny Donovan is a nasty little fellow anyway, says things to the umpire and pitcher that are not nice and has a harsh, jarring voice that should be cultivated and ironed out; in fact if his whole anatomy were placed under a road roller and then buried behind the barn, face down, it would suit the Edmonton patrons nicely. He is not popular here. Well, Mr. Donovan's specialty is a bunt, and he worked it last night. It was only a dinky little thing that could not have gotten outside the diamond anyway, and Mr. Howard fielded it nicely and threw to Mr. Dobson, who was holding a position on first base, directly to the northeast of where Mr. Howard picked up the ball. It must be admitted that the sun was shining in Mr. Howard's face, but as there is nothing in Anson's guide covering the movements of the sun this was a matter which was incontrovertible. Mr. Howard took a chance and threw into the glove. Had the ball gone far enough it would undoubtedly have hit one of Prof. Tyndall's sun spots; but as it was, the trajectory was only sufficient to carry it over Mr. Dobson's head into the rubbering throng to the rear of first. There is a story to the effect that it was a Calgary lady who covered the ball with her skirt, but this report is so far unconfirmed. The fact remains, however, that before Mr. Dobson was able to sort out the crowd and separate them from the ball messrs. Crist, Mayne and Donovan had all scored. And just to add edge to our chagrin Mr. Painter came up next and retired the side on a fly to second.

That was about all there was to the game. Mr. Watson scored in the seventh, but it was an accident which reflects no particular credit on his ability, and Mr. Bradley scored in the ninth and Dr. Till got as far as second when Mr. McGurl fanned at a moment when a home run would have been worth at least $499.99. There was about $300 bet.

Twelve hundred people witnessed the tragedy.

This evening Wetaskiwin and Calgary will play at 7 o'clock sharp and tomorrow evening the Calgary and Edmonton teams will come together again. Some new talent will be added to the team, including a gentleman from Winnipeg who is alleged to have considerable ability as a performer in centre field, and another with an elastic wing to cover left.
